Introduction

My name is Jack. I am from Washington. I work for hospital where I work as a doctor. I have a small family, me, my wife and my daughter. I have two dogs. I really like running. My family is busy family. My wife is also doctor therefore we do not have much time. My family is like a strong pillar for me, on which I can rely blindly anytime I require support. My family is a lifeline to whom I can run to, whatever may be the situation I am facing. My family guides me to be a good person and great doctor and help me in nurturing good values. We, humans, are like animals that live together spreading love and care for each other.
